Long Bio

Shine On Floyd is a Phoenix Arizona based Pink Floyd Tribute Band that is made up of very dedicated members with a common love of Pink Floyd music. The band puts on a lengthy set of the most iconic classic Pink Floyd songs with an emphasis on songs from Dark Side of the Moon and The Wall.

The band was formed by Scott Fresener (bass guitar) who has played on and off in the Phoenix area most of his adult life. Scott is the “mature” member of the group having played originally in the 60’s and having one of the hot local bands that opened for many national touring acts.

The bands lead singer and lead guitar and steel guitar player is Bryan Laurienti. He is very detail minded which helps the band play all the subtle things going on in a Floyd song. Bryan is one of the younger members of the group who has a passion for all Pink Floyd songs and he can play lead and sing them all with great precision. He makes it look effortless.

Robert Goddard is the bands second lead singer who shares lead guitar duties with Bryan. Robert has a very diverse background and has played in other “metal” tribute bands but has found a real home in Shine On Floyd.

Andrew Smith is the keyboard player. Andrew is very musical and was a music teacher. He has a great grasp of theory and works hard to get all the Richard Wright keyboard parts correct and helps the band with overall musicianship.

Jeff Bowen is the bands drummer. Jeff started playing drums when he was 12 (touring with his dad). He is a well seasoned drummer who gets in the pocket and keeps things nice and tight! Jeff sits back in his little “office/drum kit” and goes unnoticed until you listen to the band and realize it is the drummer driving things.

Brian Crawford is the groups saxophone and rhythm guitar player. Brian comes from a law enforcement background and retired to Scottsdale and has played on an off all his adult life. Every great Pink Floyd tribute band needs a hot sax player and Brian is that guy!

A serious tribute band is not complete without backup singers. Pink Floyd songs are like a symphony and each part is critical and backup singers as a very key element to the overall sound. The band is fortunate to have Aubrey Castleberry and Tabitha Galownia. Aubrey is an up and coming singer and has a great voice and vocal range. Tabatha or "Tabbs" has her own SoundCloud channel and is an up and coming solo singer. Aubrey and Tabbs are the perfect fit for Shine On Floyd and are really the icing on the cake for most songs.

The fact that all of the band reads music and knows theory really helps them duplicate the Pink Floyd sound on stage. Plus, everyone in the band can handle background vocals and harmonies to help supplement the talented backup singers.

Of course a Pink Floyd show would not be complete without background videos, smoke, lasers, a light show, sound effects and more and of course Shine On Floyd has all of that.

Shine On Floyd is a work of love to honor the creativity of Pink Floyd songs and they strive to put on a show where you can close your eyes and think you are hearing Roger Waters, David Gilmour, Richard Wright and Nick Mason on stage.
